Today’s increasingly competitive and fast-paced business environment constantly pushes companies to introduce new products to market more quickly than others to look for opportunities to improve performance or to simply reinvent themselves. The ability to continually evolve to meet changes in policies, compliance requirements, products and services, technology innovations, and customer demands represents change, which is neither linear nor sequential.

To succeed, you must respond quickly and effectively across multiple dimensions, and be prepared to transform your organization. Collaborative Consulting’s Business Process and Program Management Services are designed to understand business objectives and current capabilities, identify strengths and areas of improvement, and define and execute actionable plans to implement both tactical and strategic solutions.

Employing core business architecture and project management principles, Collaborative Consulting’s services take initiatives from inception to completion. This is accomplished by establishing frameworks to govern, manage, improve, and ensure that initiatives are properly aligned and prioritized with business needs and that the executives are provided with the right information to make key business decisions. This framework is further leveraged to tactically manage the interdependencies between roles and interactions of people, processes, data, technology, and governance inherent in all organizations.

Collaborative Consulting Business Process and Program Management service areas

Operational Excellence: The economic climate of the last several years has created a renewed need for improvement and systemic change within all organizations as customers expect more for less and competition remains very strong. Collaborative Consulting’s Operational Excellence services utilize our experiences with managing and executing process and technology implementations to analyze your organization and project structures, processes, and plans to determine if the necessary strategy and support structure is in place to enable effective and efficient execution of the business and operational goals. We work with you to create an actionable strategy and plan to align business capabilities, organizational structure, and underlying business processes with business and operational goals that help you achieve the organization’s desired business outcomes. Our services include:

- Capabilities Assessment
- Program Management Office (PMO)
- Process Tuning
- Program Health Check
Requirements Management and Program Execution:

Collaborative Consulting’s Requirements Management and Program Execution services focus on ensuring that you can successfully deliver projects that support your business goals by applying the appropriate techniques, behaviors, and disciplined/qualified resources to get the job done right by meeting the needs and expectations of your customers and internal or external stakeholders on time and within budget. We can help you succeed in your initiatives, whether enterprise wide in scale or focused on a specific business unit, with the following services:

• Program Management Outsourcing
• Cross-Functional Requirement Management
• Competency Development
• Organizational Change Management

Getting started and working together

We help our clients succeed. Let us begin an energetic and detailed conversation about your business objectives, your technology goals and strategies, and your unique information technology environment. As your partner, Collaborative Consulting can show you how to ensure your technology deployments effectively meet and exceed the needs of your business and its scalability demands. Together, let us devise the roadmap to your success, and then help you deliver on it.

Collaborative Consulting is a leading information technology services firm dedicated to helping our clients achieve business advantage through the use of strategy and technology. We deliver a comprehensive set of solutions across multiple industries, with a focus on business process and program management, information management, software solutions, and software performance and quality. We also have a set of offerings specific to the life sciences and financial services industries. Our unique model offers both onsite management and IT consulting as well as U.S.-based remote solution delivery.

To learn more about Collaborative, please visit our website at www.collaborative.com, email us at sales@collaborative.com, or contact us at 877-376-9900.